(Elena Galanopoulou, tospirto)

A very touching and beautifully made performance. A journey worth all the way.
(Mary Adamopoulou, Ta Nea)

Inspired, original and surprisingly healing. Clear and multi-layered at the same time, Sforaris' new work is one of the best moments of the Greek Festival.
(Tatiana Kapodistria, to spirto)

A performance-experience for the viewers.
(Ioanna Kleftogianni, in2life)

Touching and hilarious at the same time. A new theatrical experience that speaks to our souls in an intense and magical way.
(Tatiana Theodorou, neamatia)

Human and lucid, extremely inventive, with a rare honesty on stage. A sweet and emotional narration of the Greek History.
(Stella Harami, Eleftheros Tipos)

The most concise Greek performance of this year's Greek Festival (Ioanna Blatsou, PontikiArt)

Feeling happy after seeing a performance is something that rarely happens to me. A redemption about Greece that we all carry inside our souls. The most important and honorable journey in our common memory as a nation. A performance that should be taught in Greek schools, not as the past but as Greece nowadays. A slap in the face.
